'Outstanding educational systems find ways of learning from their best and strategically use the diversity within the system' ¹

With the foundations of our Catholic system firmly established, an orientation towards the practice of system leadership becomes more compelling and deserves exploration. As a sector, we are strongly positioned to assume a system perspective; to consider and debate the possibilities, opportunities and potential for achieving sustained benefit and further transformation through deliberate and purposeful engagement and collaboration across school communities.

This two-day conference will provide a forum for school leaders to connect and learn with each other, to consider the why and how of collective action. The conference program is structured around a series of keynote presentations and workshops, facilitated roundtables, in-practice showcases, connected conversations, and more.
